I beg to inform you that I am in possession of a rich coin-collection from the 12th to the 19th century. I have the intension to sell it in the bulk at the price of 3000 $.
I send you the full list of my collection, begging you to send it back (postage enclosed) if you have no interest for my coins.
The pieces are all in a very good state. Most of them are of silver.
I am ready to deposit the collection at any German bank you may appoint.

I am, Dear Sirs,
yours very truly,

Hermann Miering.

Dear Sir:

We have looked through your collection of coins and find we are not interested in them, nor do we know anyone in this country who would be interested. Thank you for bringing these to our attention. I remain,

Yours very truly,

Curator.
